Youth Climate Summit 2021

The St. Monica Green Team is honored to report the success of our first annual Youth Climate Summit: Our Actions, Our Earth, Our Home! On Saturday, October 2, from 9am-3pm, we capped off the Season of Creation by hosting 50 middle and high school students who were passionate about environmental activism in their communities. We provided them with the resources to live more sustainably and sparked meaningful conversations about what it means to be an environmental advocate. From the feedback we received, the students left the summit with plans of action and a greater understanding of the intersectionality of environmentalism and faith.

We hosted 20 schools across Greater Los Angeles—from St. John Eudes in Chatsworth to St. Jerome in Inglewood, and from St. Monica in Santa Monica to Loyola in Downtown LA. CLICK HERE to see the full map and list of schools.

Thank you to St. Monica Catholic Community and the parish staff who worked with us to plan and advertise. Next, thank you to our wonderful guest presenters Megan McSherry, Theresa Rentar, and Lauren Johnstone who shared rich information and resources with the students. Thanks to our super volunteers who worked tirelessly to provide the students with the best experience possible. Thank you to the Catholic Climate Covenant and the Victory Noll Sisters for their generous grant that allowed us to keep this event free for every student.
